Funny how we all get along?

J. P. Egan took his departure this morning for Tucson.

It looked a little like rain this afternoon.

How about those beetles, Palmer, did you get the best of them?

Our citizens should be careful and not use any more water than necessary at present, as the water in the reservoir is very low.

J. E. Durkee is now hauling water from the City Water Company's main on 8th and Fremont, to the Emerald mine.

Since Bradley informed Gip that he would depart next week for Frisco Gip has staid very close to the stage office.

The Mongolian contains a lot of hogwash about private secretary Zulick, which it tries to palm off on its few readers as news.

Chas. Melgren has just received a large lot of fine bathing suits from California, and they are the finest ever seen in this part of the country.

Andy Ames took his departure this morning for San Francisco, where he will place himself under a doctor's care for treatment of his eyes.

Mrs. S. Tribolet and two children will arrive in this city this evening from Debuque, Iowa, where she has been on a visit.

All delinquent license tax payers had better read the notice of Sheriff Hatch in another column and save trouble and costs by settling up at once.

During Wm. Bradley's absence in California, his place in the stage office will be filled by James Geary, who is well and favorably known in this city.

Wm. Bradley and wife, accompanied by Mrs. Chas. Tribolet, will take their departure on the 3d of July for California, where Billy will take part in the Grand army celebration.

A little scrapping match occurred this afternoon on Allen street above Seventh but was quelled before the police arrived.

Word was received in this city today that Ambrose Lyall has had a relapse and is now lying at the point of death at his home in the Sulphur Spring valley. His children in California have been telegraphed for and it is to be hoped that they will arrive before he passes away.

Mr. Brown received a telephone message to-day from the Huachuca stating that Frank Hare was lying very sick at Miller's canyon and was not expected to live. Dr. Dunn is constantly by his side, and he has the best of care. The Tombstone hopes, together with Frank's many friends in this city that he will return home ere long with the bloom of health on his cheeks.

Cincinnati's Job-Office Journal.

"I have just come up from Cincinnati," said a well known theatrical manager the other day, "and I want to tell you something about how they work dramatic criticisms on some of the papers there. It's a great scheme and your Chicago papers are way behind the times. You don't know how to turn your dramatic columns to account. I went there a short time ago with a pretty strong combination and naturally expected to have to 'work the press' in the usual way that is laid in a big advertisement and call on the dramatic editor and stuff him full of the merits of my show. But I found it different in Cincinnati. There the dramatic editors called on me before I had my name on the hotel register. Said one: 'I am the dramatic critic of the Cincinnati.' I am also foreman of the Cincinnati's job office. I am likewise city passenger agent of the ——— Railroad. Here is my card. I called, in, to see how many lines you want in the ——— to-morrow; how many three sheets and quarter-sheets I can print for you, and how many tickets you will want to your next stand, over the ——— Railroad.' I looked at this Pooh-Bah of journalism in amazement, but a moment's thought revealed the game. I came down at once. I gave him a 100 line ad, ordered $50 worth of job printing, and contracted for twenty two tickets over the ——— Railroad. Then I said I hoped I would get a good advance notice in the ——— 'Certainly,' he said, 'write anything you wish from a half to three-fourths of a column, and I will run it for you.' But the criticism of the performance? I suggested. 'Send in anything you choose' he calmly replied 'I will print it for you.' While I was there another combination came along with a really first class entertainment. I noticed the ——— ripped it up the back unmercifully and called the company a lot of hams and sticks." I said to the manager, 'Did you advertise in the ———?' 'Yes forty lines.' 'Get any job work?' 'No had all my printing.' 'Going out of town on the ——— Railroad?' 'No, got tickets over the Panhandle.' 'Ah!' I said that accounts for it."—Chicago Herald.

The Taxpayers.

TOMBSTONE, June 24, 1886.

A meeting of the Taxpayers' Protective Association was held at the court house at 8 o'clock p. m.

In the absence of the president and vice president, J. V. Vickers was elected temporary chairman.

Reading of the minutes of the previous meeting and roll call were dispensed with.

On motion of R. E. Gray, seconded by J. Pascholy, a committee of five was appointed to sit as an executive committee for the purpose of looking after the interest of the candidates for school trustees at the election on Saturday next, to procure ballots and see that the election is conducted properly according to the school laws. ## The Dance at Fairbank.

Last evening Katzensteins' new warehouse at Fairbank was a scene of dazzling beauty. Early in the evening of the day the young gentlemen who had the matter in charge decorated the building very nicely, and at about 8 o'clock a large number of fair ladies and brave men had assembled. The music furnished was splendid, and everything passed off as merry as a marriage bell. There were delegations from Tombstone, Benson, Contention and Charleston.

The dancers kept time to the music until the rosy morn admonished all that another day had come and that it was time to seek their homes, which they reluctantly did.

The young gentlemen who had the arrangements in charge are to be congratulated upon the successful termination of the dance, and it is hoped by all who were present, that they will give another dance in the near future.

We learn that it has been stated that the Anti-Chinese League would put a ticket in the field for school trustees on Saturday next and are authorized to state that such is not the fact, as the League never had any such intention, as its efforts are simply to get rid of the Chinese. So do not be misled any vote any ticket with the idea that it is an Anti-Chinese ticket.

An Illinois newspaper man recently sued forty-three men who would not pay their subscription and twenty-eight of the number took refuge behind the exemption law, making affidavit that they were possessed of no property over and above what was exempt. Then under a decision of the supreme court, they were arrested for petit larceny and bound over in the sum of $300 each. Six could not give bonds and were sent to jail. This is the fate of the man who cheats the printer.—Maroa.

The secretary recites the fact of the promulgation of the order and its subsequent revocation and enclosed a long communication on the subject from Commissioner Sparks.
